

What is a streaming key?

The OBS streaming code refers to the streaming address and streaming password used by the anchor to push the locally captured audio and video streams to the media server, ensuring a one-to-one correspondence between your live content and your live streaming room.

The streaming code is generally divided into two parts: the RTMP address and the stream key. Enter them in the following locations in OBS: `Server and Stream Key`.

Revision #2

Created 2026-06-08 04:00:47 UTC by Admin

Updated 2026-06-08 08:39:08 UTC by Admin